Seven Die On Runway

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Mohawk Airliner crashed and burned on takeoff in a heavy rain and hail storm at the Rochester-Monroe County airport Tuesday and at least seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed. All the rest were reported injured.

Among the known dead were the pilot and first officer of the twin-engine Martin 404 and five passengers.

Witnesses reported the violent storm broke over the airport just as the plane began its take-off.

They said the craft hardly left the runway when it veered sharply to the left and its wing tip appeared to touch the ground. Then the plane plummeted sharply to earth, plowing into a muddy area—the site of a runway-extension and a road relocation project.

One side of the plane burst into flames upon impact, witnesses reported. Debris from the crash was strewn as far away as 100 yards.

Although lightning flashed over the airport at the time of takeoff it was believed the plane was not hit.

One passenger, Thomas Mayer, 35, of Westport, Conn., gave this account of the crash: "The wind grabbed us the minute we left the ground. I could tell what was going to happen. So I started praying."

"We were only 100 feet off the ground," Mayer said. "Maybe only 75 feet. It happened within 20 seconds. How high can you go in 20 seconds in that type of plane?"

"Don't ask me how I got out. I saw daylight so I got the belt off as fast as I could and I headed for daylight."

Deposit Given Boost For 'Unreliable' Types

VERNON (CP)—Businessman E. G. Eakins of Vancouver when he arranged to rent a trailer here last week, was told the price was $35 plus $20 deposit.

When he arrived Monday to pick it up, he was in full uniform as Brig. E. G. Eakins, senior officer of the British Columbia Militia.

The price had gone up. The brigadier was told by an unidentified woman at the trailer park that because he was "an army type" and therefore "not too reliable," the deposit would have to be $50. Brig. Eakins went elsewhere.

Grits Win New Test

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government survived its fourth non-confidence test of the young parliamentary session Tuesday night as a Progressive Conservative motion against the minority administration was defeated in the Commons.

Voting for the Conservative motion, which accused the government of creating confusion in the economy, were 61 Conservatives, 13 New Democratic MPs and Guy Macdonald, Independent Social Credit member for Quebec-Montmagny.

Opposed with 56 Liberals, 18 Social Credit MPs and Frank Howard (NDP-Skeena.)

Final vote was 115 to 76.

Gordon:

Revenue Must Climb

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Tuesday night it is "absolutely necessary" for the federal government to have more revenue.

Hence the sales taxes, he told the Commons shortly before a vote on a Conservative non-confidence motion based on the budget proposals.

GO ON DRIFTING

"If the people of Canada are not willing to back a government which has a program, and pay more taxes in the interim, then we will have to go on drifting and that inevitably means we will end up on the rocks."

Mr. Gordon said that had the government not imposed the sales taxes, the deficit in the current fiscal year would exceed $700,000,000. Next year it could top $1,000,000,000.

There's a Reason For the Sweetness

By TERRY HAMMOND

The unique aura of sweetness and light currently surrounding B.C.-Ottawa relations got another stay of execution yesterday when Premier Bennett continued his steadfast refusal to comment on the federal budget.

Ever since Finance Minister Walter Gordon brought down his controversial budget June 17 reporters have been trying to get the premier's evaluation of it.

Never before has he been so reticent.

From a newsman travelling with the cabinet on its swing through the Kootenays last month the premier got the budget highlights hours after they were delivered in the House of Commons.

He found them "interesting" but asked for more time to study the budget before he said anything further.

By yesterday it was apparent he had studied the budget fully because he told newsmen he had made representations to Ottawa asking for a "second look" at the 11 per cent tax on building materials.

But he still refused to say what he thought of the document.

Observers believe his reticence may evaporate with the signing of the agreement for development of the Columbia River power project.

Members of the government have made no secret of the fact that until the knotty Columbia problem is solved Ottawa is to get kid-glove treatment.

Although Premier Bennett's views on the Liberal budget have never been expressed, it is known that he is an arch-foe of any measures likely to impede industrial expansion.

Yesterday he wouldn't even criticize the 11 per cent tax.

"I made personal representations," was all he would say.

SPY DRAGNET SNARES FOUR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI agents in New York and Washington Tuesday arrested two married couples—including a Russian diplomat—on charges of conspiring with Soviet intelligence to supply the Kremlin with U.S. military secrets over the last six years.

GALKIN
... co-conspirators

In addition to these four, the FBI said there were two other conspirators who have now left the United States. They had worked at the United Nations but were described in the FBI complaint as "officers of the GRU, Soviet Military Intelligence."

TOOK OTHER NAMES

Seized in New York were a Russian working as a UN official and his Russian wife. Arrested in Washington was a "John Doe" who, according to the FBI, took the name of a real Catholic priest, Robert Balch, to masquerade his true identity, and his wife, who assumed the real name of a Connecticut housewife, Joy-Ann Garbar.

The FBI moved immediately to arraign all four.

SEARCH APARTMENT

In Washington agents kept the couple in their modest apartment in the northwest part of the city long into the evening for apparent questioning and searching.

A government official, commenting on the magnitude of the ring, said "this is a big one."

It was the second Soviet espionage case disclosed by the United States in two days and involved all the traditional trappings of spies—secret messages left at "drop points," codes, ciphers and secret writings.

Mac Told

Sex, Spy Scandals No Joke

LONDON (AP)—Harold Wilson, leader of the opposition Labor party, accused Prime Minister Macmillan Tuesday of taking a petulant attitude and trying to laugh off the sex and spy scandals that have shaken Britain. (See also Page 22.)

In a collision in the House of Commons, Macmillan snapped back that finding the spies was a security success—not a failure—and angrily told Wilson he thought his remarks offensive.

MUST LEARN DIFFERENCE

"You really must learn to distinguish between invective and insolence," the prime minister added.

The row was touched off by a dispute over the way the Conservative government handled recent security disclosures. These were topped by Monday's revelation that diplomat-turned-journalist Harold Philby was the mysterious "third man" who warned renegade diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean to flee England in 1951.

VAMPIRE IN JANUARY

Burgess and Maclean have been in Moscow since and Philby is believed to have slipped across the Iron Curtain since he disappeared from Britain last January.

News that Philby, once first secretary of the British embassy in Washington and believed head of security there, has actually been a Soviet agent stunned the House of Commons. Macmillan in 1955 said there was no evidence against Philby.

Verbal sword-crossing first started when a Conservative MP asked Macmillan if he planned to appoint a minister of security.

The prime minister replied that he would have to await the result of a judicial inquiry into Continued on Page 3

Seat Lost, Life Saved

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A New York City man had buckled his seat belt aboard the ill-fated Mohawk Airlines

Flight 112 when he heard his name called on the public address system.

Thomas D. Forrest, 38,

"I went inside the terminal," he told a reporter. "Then I heard a lot of sirens... and someone told me the plane had crashed."

Forrest, a reservations clerk for Eastern Airlines, was flying on an airline pass. Paying passengers receive seating priority and Forrest had to give up his place.

"I don't even know what the man looked like," he said of the person who took his seat.

Thirty Killed in Crash

WELLINGTON (AP)—A New Zealand airliner crashed in rugged hill country early today and officials feared all 30 persons aboard were killed.

The DC-3 of the New Zealand National Airways went down on 3,000-foot-high Maitai Mountain range on a flight from Auckland to Tauranga, 95 miles to the southeast on New Zealand's South Island.

Holiday Toll Highest In Canada's History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A record-breaking 169 accidental deaths was the final solemn reckoning of Canada's three-day Dominion Day weekend celebrations.

The death toll passed the previous 1960 Dominion Day weekend record of 122 early on the third day and mounted steadily as cars poured onto highways from the return journey home and reports from lakes and rivers flooded in.

It was Canada's most grisly weekend on record, surpassing even the nation's highest five-day weekend count of 130 deaths during the 1962 Christmas period.

Altogether, 81 Canadians died on roads, 77 drowned, two died in fires and seven met unclassified deaths, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local times Friday to 12 midnight local times Monday shows. The National Safety Council had predicted no more than 50 would die on roads.

TWO PROVINCES HIGHER

The fatalities in Ontario and Quebec alone easily outstripped the nation's Dominion Day weekend toll of 85 last year.

Quebec's total more than doubled from a record 38 in 1958 to 78, including 41 drownings, 33 traffic fatalities, one accidental hanging, one fall, one suffocation and one tornado fatality.

Only province without an accidental death was Newfoundland, but 15 people died in the rest of the Atlantic provinces. The traffic toll was six in B.C., five in Alberta, four in Manitoba and one in Saskatchewan.

The survey does not include known slayings or suicides, industrial accidents and natural deaths.

B.C. Prisoner Dies After Insecticide Use

VANCOUVER (CP)—A prisoner from the Hanes Correctional Institute, who suffered twice late in June from the effects of garden insecticide fumes, died in hospital Tuesday.

Authorities at Hanes said James Willard Boyce, 31, of 109 Mile House, used the insecticide June 24 without a mask and was ill the following day. He used it again June 28 and again became ill.

Rail to Resources

THE ANNOUNCEMENT made last week that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway is to take over the Wenner Gren's stalled project to run a railroad into the Yukon, is further evidence of the government's determination to open up the virgin northern half of the province.

The 100 miles of steel to be laid from Summit Lake on the PGE main line, just north of Prince George, to the Fort St. James area on Stuart Lake, is perhaps just the first stage of the much-heralded line to the Yukon.

With Alaska now in full statehood, the existence of a railway running the length of British Columbia from south to north could be not only domestically desirable, but also greatly used by the industry and commerce of the United States.

The first phase of the new PGE line will be of considerable value to the existing sawmills and planer mills of the Fort St. James area. These mills now truck their product to Vanderhoof on the Canadian National Railway, but the loading and reloading involved adds to their costs, and the operators will have a great incentive to expand once they can load their lumber into the boxcars of the PGE alongside their mills.

In addition to opening up a new area for more intensive forest operations, the new line is pointing its way into an important mineralized section of the province. Gold, silver, mercury, lead, zinc, asbestos, and other base metals are known to exist in the general area, but because of the difficulties and expense of transportation many highly promising claims remain undeveloped.

For most industries good roads are sufficient, but where mining is concerned, the cheaper haul of the railway for vast quantities of ores and concentrates is an essential.

The government intends to spend $18,000,000 on the first leg of its railway to the Yukon, and as almost simultaneously a new pulp and paper industry to cost $30,000,000 has been announced for the Prince George area, it looks as if it could be money well disbursed.

Divided Houses

THE WESTERN alliance has its own internal troubles, a house divided in itself, simply because its components have their own national aims to project and follow. So has the Communist world.

Any idea that the West alone suffers the disabilities of coalition has disappeared ever since Peking began to challenge the supremacy of Moscow. The Communist bloc also has its uneasy partners.

This is sharply pointed by the Soviet Union's demand that Red China recall several members of its embassy from Moscow, the kind of diplomatic displeasure hitherto brought into play against the West. The Chinese are said to have criticized the Soviet premier's Communist leadership.

Peking disputes that leadership even though Communism as a world force had its birth in Russia. China, much more militant because less concerned than the rest of the world about the calamity of nuclear war, now considers herself the true mentor of doctrinaire Communism and patently aims to displace the Soviet Union as the leading Communist influence.

No immediate advantage may accrue to the West because of this Sino-Soviet rivalry but there is no disadvantage either in the long run their conflict must orient the Soviet Union towards the West. Communist divergence will become more apparent as China moves as it is doing towards independent nuclear power.

In the back of Russian minds also will be the latent threat of China in the Asiatic parts of the Soviet Union, where international boundaries are tenuous and unclear and where Chinese eyes are cast on large tracts of territory presently under Soviet rule. Communist countries are national as well as Communist, and Chinese ambitions in the Mongolian sectors of the Soviet Union are no secret.

If at times Western conferences take place in an atmosphere scarcely calculated to achieve harmony and unity of action so do those in the other half of the global picture. Later this week Soviet-Chinese talks are due to open in Moscow, and the current feuding does not promise a very easy get-together.

A communique undoubtedly will be issued thereafter which ostensibly reflects agreement and a common interest but, as indeed in similar documents of the Western alliance, the split in aims and objects will still be there. Coalitions always have an Achilles heel, and the Communist bloc is no exception.

Wrong Way Round

MR. DAVID GROOS, the Liberal member for Victoria, seems to have an independent attitude that does him credit. In the Commons defence committee he challenged the idea of making equipment decisions before deciding what the defence policy should be.

This was tantamount to telling the defence minister, Mr. Hellyer, that he was putting the cart before the horse.

Undoubtedly as a former naval captain he was thinking of the latter's apparent desire to scrap the eight-ship frigate program and his awareness of the effect this would have on the future of the RCN and its operations, a realm in which he has direct knowledge and experience.

In his view, and it appears entirely logical, policy should come before procurement programs, which simply carry out the policies arrived at.

Mr. Hellyer talked again about weapons flexibility, which he regards as having the priority, and unarmoured options he must be free to choose. More particularly he seems to consider that he must pursue anything the previous government set in motion lest he be thought to be acting as a rubber stamp. But defence is surely not to be turned topsy-turvy merely on this account.

And the defence policies of the former government would be based on the advice of the same professional advisers as are at the disposal of the present administration.

Elimination of a naval building program upon which the strategic role of the RCN presumably must rest involves a matter of vital defensive policy. In any field of endeavor equipment is geared to the overall plan, not the other way round.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships,

By TOM TAYLOR

SCHOOL is out and you would see in the Colonist a picture of two North Ward youngsters jumping for joy. Whether their acrobatics came at the photographer's request or because their own report cards were good I don't know. But with two months' respite ahead of them they had ample cause for merriment.

If I am to judge from the playground behaviour of the North Ward children, close to our plant and all colors of the rainbow, nearly, they are always full of gaiety. Good for them. Churchill said the blitheness of the young but he was wrong. It ranges from one to 12 or thereabouts. Long may it be that way. The cares of life come soon enough.

I don't have total recall and so don't remember whether I jumped for joy when in my schooldays the summer holidays came. One thing I do remember, though: the vacation lasted only six weeks.

I was born too soon, alas. So General Peckles is adding another medal to the array of decorations on his chest. I hope the lieutenant-governor can find room for it.

Already his "fruit salad," as the Legionary once inelegantly termed these clusters of military lustre, is extensive and varied, even in an age when a pyramid of ribbons is quite common.

A lot depends on how the pyramid was built up, of course. And here it is that the incumbent of Government House has few peers. At its apex there are those prized initials VC, DSO, MC, the symbols above all others that bespeak valor in the field.

These are the cream of the crop. Still and all, the CD with two clasps that will be pinned on his breast this week will carry its own patina. It represents service, 32 years in the Canadian Army, the force he adorned and in which he won his battlefield fame.

I imagine he will consider the CD not the least of the medals that enoble his career.

A READER who isn't an "old salt" but whose link with the ancient past is related to the sea, writes to tell me of his historic span.

As a small boy his father took him to see the Great Eastern, the biggest ship of its time. It was in drydock, and he crawled under it, which would give him a new perspective.

Out of water a ship is like a duck on land, ungainly. At its launching the Great Eastern was the largest vessel in the world, 680 feet long, designed to carry 1,000 passengers, which a century ago was akin to a Sputnik in the sky.

She left the Thames on her first voyage the year after the Colonist was founded. Afterwards she held the first Atlantic cable, and came to her destined end, the shipbreakers, in 1888.

My correspondent's father said to him: "In days to come you can tell your grandchildren you were under the biggest ship ever built."

"That I have done," says my reader, "but think of the span there! Many like that and one might be under the Ark, in drydock."

It is not what goes on at the time but the aftermath, often, that counts. That is why there is such a thing for war veterans as the "burnt-out" peninsula.

The effects of hardship show up long after the sufferings have been endured. Memory of the fate of the Canadian troops captured by the Japanese at Hong Kong is revived by their plea to Ottawa for increased pension assistance. Four years of ill-treatment, poor food and forced labor are taking heavy toll, causing to light now as the years creep on.

One recalls their deplorable physical condition, pain-wracked and diseased, as they rested in Victoria after liberation. They were not fit to be sent to their homes, there to shock and disturb their families, until they had been rehabilitated here.

They came through an arduous ordeal; they deserve sympathetic consideration.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The city of Quebec was founded by French explorer Samuel de Champlain 353 years ago today—in 1608—the first settlement in New France. It was then more than a century since Columbus had reached America. For a number of years after its founding Quebec was only a trading post, reached only by a perilous route. Twenty years after the founding of Quebec it had hardly more than 100 inhabitants and six families who devoted themselves to farming. 1608—The United States fleet destroyed the Spanish fleet in the Battle of Santiago. 1908—Fire at Cobalt, Ont., left 2,000 of the 6,000 residents homeless.

Chinese Realities Neglected

The Myth of a Vast Market

By EDWARD NEILAN from Hong Kong

FOR hundreds of years businessmen and traders have been intrigued by the potential of the "vast China market." London suppliers calculated that if they could provide "oil for the lamps of China" they would become rich. Japanese textile executives have become intoxicated at the potential demand statistics of 700 million Chinese.

So great has been the preoccupation with the "potential" of the China market that the realities of Chinese foreign trade and commerce have been neglected. Actually, the China market has never been large.

Figures for 1962 placed together from reports of China's trading partners, and other sources, show that Red China's foreign trade for the year amounted to only an estimated $2,300,000,000.

By comparison with other countries on China's periphery, the 1962 Peking figures were unimpressive: Slightly smaller than the Malayan market ($2,300,000,000); slightly larger than the Singapore market ($1,800,000,000); considerably less than India ($3,600,000,000); and insignificant compared with Japan's foreign trade ($10,600,000,000).

Imports and exports both declined in 1962 and total trade turnover dropped to its lowest level since 1951. Most notable was another drastic cut in imports from the Soviet Union, an indication of the strained relations between Peking and Moscow.

Prospects for the future are difficult to assess. The China market as it is today is a reflection of the Chinese Communist economy, and the economy is depressed by any standard. Simply, the Communist system has failed to develop to any extent the "potential" of the country.

There is no purchasing power on the part of individual citizens. Free enterprise and initiative have been stifled.

Recently there have been some indications that the long depressed economic slide of the last few years may have been checked. But even if true, this does not imply a favorable forecast for the future.

No major economic assistance is in sight for Peking from East or West, and without it predictions for an easing of the nation's prolonged agricultural and industrial depression are hard to make.

According to figures compiled here, Sino-Soviet trade declined from $919,000,000 in 1961 to an estimated $600,000,000 last year.

Soviet demands on China to pay outstanding debts were a bitter blow to Peking. In the throes of depression, Peking was hardly prepared to meet exports to Russia in repayment of debts.

Industrial products, particularly capital goods and spare parts, have been the principal items deleted from the flow of Soviet exports to China. Where as Sino-Soviet trade in 1961 showed a drop of 45 per cent compared with 1960, Chinese imports of capital goods such as machinery dropped almost 80 per cent.

Chinese probings during 1962 and early 1963 of Japanese and Western industrial markets suggested that if and when Peking is able to increase industrial imports it will not turn exclusively to the Communist bloc as in the past.

A combination of factors probably caused the reduction of grain imports, foremost of which was Peking's obligation to meet payments still due on its 1961 grain purchases. During recent months Peking has purchased some 4.3 million tons of grain. The existing Canadian agreement provides for the purchase of nearly another million tons by the Chinese during this year.

Chinese trade with non-Communist countries in the last few years has been dominated by grain transactions, although in 1962 less grain (4.6 million tons) was imported than in 1961 (6.5 million tons).

During the last half of 1962, however, mainly technical delegations were sent to West Europe to study the aviation, shipbuilding, petroleum, metal finishing, chemical and steel industries. An Italian delegation visited Peking to attempt to sell chemical products. Apart from the deals with the British for Viscount and Britannia aircraft, the delegations have not stimulated any major deals.

The delegations do indicate that the Chinese are looking outside the Communist bloc for equipment and technological know-how. The Takahashi trade mission to Peking in 1962 raised hopes in certain quarters in both countries that trade between Japan and China could be increased. The Takahashi Memorandum signed on Nov. 9, 1962, provided for a five-year trade agreement with an average annual value of $101,000,000. Japan would enjoy favorable balance during the first three years with the balance shifting to Communist China during the last two years.

Actual trade between the two countries during 1962 increased considerably even prior to the Takahashi Memorandum. The figure for 1962 was $84,000,000, or 90 per cent above the 1961 figure of $47,000,000.

Further growth is expected during this year, possibly to the level provided under the Takahashi agreement. But the Chinese Communists already have asked for longer credit terms, for a shift to barter payments in some cases, and other terms which have discouraged the Japanese.

Japan was heartened when Red China dropped political demands as prerequisites to trade with Japan but the new bids for extended credit have given many Japanese firms second thoughts about pursuing, as present, the so-called "vast China market."

"We proved the usefulness of negotiations," a Western diplomat said. "But I hope we never have to do it this way again."

For the first time, there was a close working relationship between the Latin Americans and the Asian-African group, thus pooling a majority of some 75 members of the organization who have poverty in common.

Within this committee, the key spokesman for all the under-developed nations was an articulate Latin American, Raul Quilano of Argentina.

The alliance was so close between the three continents that moves were considered to have an unprecedented informal meeting of the Asians, Africans and Latins. One of the factors preventing it was

Austrian Lake

Treasure Hunt

By FREDERICK SCHEU from Vienna

A stranger seen wandering near Lake Toplitz, in the Austrian Salzkammergut mountains, is likely to arouse more suspicion than almost anybody else anywhere in the world. For Austrians think there are strong reasons why such a stranger might be:

The representative of one of at least two rival Nazi secret organizations;

An emissary of a group of German industrialists;

A scout employed by Swiss bankers;

An agent of the Soviet Union;

A member of the Israeli secret service; or

An Austrian policeman in civilian clothes.

Here, in the heart of what was intended to be Hitler's "Alpine fortress," the Germans maintained an experimental naval station during the Second World War and here many Nazi leaders—including, for a time, Adolf Eichmann—sought refuge when the Nazi war machine was breaking down. There is no doubt that much Nazi loot and many secret documents were hidden in the Salzkammergut region in 1945. And the belief has grown up that much of this was hidden in the lake itself. The belief was strengthened four years ago when divers, hired by a German magazine, brought up some chests filled with forged British £5-notes with a nominal value of several millions.

What has brought Lake Toplitz back into the news has been the efforts of a finance group, led by a former Nazi SS leader, now living in Peru, to obtain permission from the Austrian authorities to search in the lake. Permission has not, at this date, been granted.

Lake Toplitz is a small, green lake. It is enclosed by high mountain walls. The only access is on foot from Lake Grundlsee. There is no path round it.

Maps, charts and reports which have appeared in Austrian newspapers suggest that there may be two kinds of treasure hidden in the lake.

Twenty-two chests, each containing 20 solid gold bars, are said to have been hidden in the water on a kind of shelf beneath an enormous cliff on the north side of the lake, and marked with buoys on long strings reaching up to 15 feet below the water surface. The gold is alleged to have come partly from the teeth of concentration camp victims and partly from the vaults of banks in countries occupied by the Nazis. The buoys may have disappeared, or the treasure may have been lifted in secret. There are no buoys there now.

Another allegation is that near the centre of the lake are a number of water-tight containers holding lists of Nazi supporters and details and codes of secret accounts built up by Nazi leaders in Swiss banks during the war.

There is a division of interest between those groups who want any "treasure" to be lifted, and those who want it to stay on the bottom. Those who want it to stay on the bottom are said to include Swiss banks. Accounts are understood to become the property of the banks if they are not claimed within next two years—that is, within 20 years from 1945. The other group is of German industrialists who are said to fear details of their Nazi past coming to light.

Listed among those who want any treasure to be brought up are anti-Nazis keen to discover further details to bring war criminals to punishment; Israelis who want to make good their country's claims on former Jewish property; Russians looking for compromising material against West German leaders; and just adventurers who seek gold.

Secret diving in the lake—say under cover of darkness—is thought to be almost impossible. The lake is deep and the bottom is known to have a thick layer of slime. But there are continual rumors that attempts may be made and other attempts to prevent them.

One local man, named Gainswinkler, has much knowledge of charrs and co-ordination points. He was parachuted into the area by the Allies in 1945 and became a leader of the local anti-Nazi resistance movement. Later he sat in the Austrian Parliament, but he now leads a semi-retired life as director of a local national insurance office. Public opinion in Austria is now calling on the government to step in and end the mystery by mounting an official treasure hunt.

City Member Probes Decisions on Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — David Gross, Victoria Liberal MP, said Tuesday in the Commons defence committee the government seems to be making decisions on equipment procurement programs before deciding what defence policy will be.

He said decisions on policy should precede decisions on equipment programs, which were the only means of carrying out policy.

Caouette Still Too Ill

OTTAWA (CP) — Deputy Social Credit leader Reel Caouette, 45, returned to Parliament Tuesday after a month's rest and said he will take a further three or four months off on doctor's advice.

He said he suffered "a kind of nervous breakdown" after the strain of the April 8 election campaign.

No government decision is imminent on the establishment of an appeal board for persons labelled by the RCMP as security risks, Justice Minister Chevrier said.

He also said the government is considering its position with regard to application of the Navigable Waters Protection Act on the huge Peace River dam project in B.C.

VERNON (CP) — Heavy weekend rains have cut the Okanagan Valley's 1963 cherry crop in half.

Orchardists Tuesday were still checking the toll from the rains, but grower Harold Marshall said some would not be picking at all.

The rains were hailed as a boon to vegetable growers who badly needed moisture for potatoes.

A month-long showing of the largest exhibition of crafts ever shown in B.C. opened Tuesday at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The exhibition, Young Americans 1962, is the result of a U.S.-wide jury show in New York's Museum of Contemporary Crafts last year. It was restricted to craftsmen under 30 partly to show new forms in the crafts.

Among the more than 200 items are woven rugs and wall hangings, pottery in all forms, jewelry, enamel work, various metal crafts and textile pictures.

Dismissal Sets Off Navy Probe

Naval authorities have been asked by Defence Minister Hellyer for a report on the case of former PO Eric Peterson, 37, Tillamook, who was not allowed to re-enlist in the navy after 10 years' service because his father-in-law had been a Communist 30 years ago.

The case was brought to Mr. Hellyer's attention by Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie.

The 30-year-old former petty officer now is supporting his family on $280 a month earned as a hotel room clerk. Mr. McKenzie wrote to Mr. Hellyer about the case and received a reply Tuesday.

Mr. Hellyer said he would notify Mr. McKenzie of any information turned up by the navy report.

Big Sidney Day

Parade to Sandown

Thousands Flock to Fete

Sports, competitions, entertainment and dancing drew thousands of Victoria residents to join those in Sidney to help celebrate Sidney's big day of the year.

A judo exhibition by the Victoria Judo Club was added to such time-honored Sidney Day attractions as an Elks Lodge-sponsored flag-raising ceremony and sports day for children, a horse gymkhana and North Saanich Dog Obedience Club dog trials.

Highlight of the day came when Linda Douma, 15, was crowned Sidney Queen by her predecessor, Barbara Erickson. Linda's princesses are Penny Clark and Nancy Miller.

Showcase '63, a variety show, was put on by a Vancouver troupe at Sanscha Hall in the afternoon and again in the evening.

Celebrations ended with dancing which went on until 1:30 a.m.

The big day began with a parade which wound from Sidney to Sandown Park, where most of the celebrations took place.

Expansion Confirmed

Westcoast Profit Up

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

Brewery Penalized

TORONTO (CP)—Carling Breweries Ltd. will have its products "delisted" and its retail operations suspended in Metropolitan Toronto July 14 inclusive, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario said Monday.

Alton Grossman, chief commissioner, said the action was taken because of "flagrant breaches" of the Liquor Control Act, including falsification of orders and misuse of LCBO forms in the distribution of beer.

Clearing the right-of-way and initial construction work is due to begin this fall.

"Prospects for large additional sales of gas and a significant increase in earnings are excellent," said Mr. McMahon.

The company which was running a deficit of $749,500 two years ago had a surplus of $6,097,816 at March 31, 1963.

LOCAL FUND GROWS

'Caddy' Attacks Wimbledon

Caddy hasn't really struck at Wimbledon. It's actually only one of the snake-like sponge rubber covers workmen spread over courts to protect them from over-night rains.—(Fednews)

Willie's Net Tactics Work; Even Bigger Trial Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Wilhelm Bungert, a West German tennis player, kept silent Tuesday about a plan he has hatched to beat Chuck McKinley of the United States to win a place in the men's final at the Wimbledon tennis championships.

The two men clash in the semi-finals today. Bungert, 24, who knocked out top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 Monday, told reporters he has his plan for the match.

"I played against McKinley in the West of England Championships at Bristol the other week," Bungert said. "He beat me but I studied him carefully. I've got some ideas about how to deal with him. Of course, I'm not going to say what they are."

Bungert hatched a plan to beat Emerson—and it worked. When receiving service he stood a yard nearer the net than usual. "The idea was to return Emerson's service so fast that he had no time to get to the net and volley."

DOWN'S BOBBY WILSON
McKinley, of San Angelo, Tex., crushed British Davis Cup star Bobby Wilson 6-6, 6-4, 6-2 Monday.

The other semi-final today will be between Manuel Santana of Spain and Fred Stolle of Australia.

Santana, seeded No. 2, defeated German lefty Christian Kuhnke 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Stolle beat Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 9-7, 7-5, 6-4.

Billie Jean Moffitt, 19-year-old upset specialist from the United States, overcame former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil Tuesday to reach the women's singles semi-finals of the All-England Lawn Tennis Championships.

General manager Herb Capozzi called the club "two or three days ahead" of the training schedule here last year. Skrein and Co., like all good coaches, are optimistic after the first three days of camp.

"We should be better prepared for this year's opener than we were last year because we've got a lot of veterans back," Skrein said. "With them it's just a matter of reviewing and getting into top shape."

Red Sullivan and Tim Goude homered for Sooke, Al Robertson for Imperials.

Sunday, Sooke beat McLaren, 1-0, as Goude doubled in the bottom of the ninth and scored on a sacrifice fly by Ron Martin.

In junior softball action over the weekend, Morrisons beat visiting Squamish twice, 15-2 and 7-2. Morrisons host the B.C. Junior tournament July 27-28 at Heywood Park.

Miss Moffitt, overlooked in the seedings, knocked out the seventh-ranked Maria Bueno, the 1959 and 1960 winner, by a 6-2, 7-5 score and kept alive her growing reputation for defeating favorites.

Meanwhile Margaret Smith, top-rated women's singles player from Australia, captured a semi-final berth by defeating Renee Schuurman of South Africa 3-6, 6-0, 6-1. But Miss Schuurman tasted victory in both the women's and mixed doubles.

Also qualifying for semi-final play was Darlene Hard of the United States. Miss Hard was awarded her match against Jan Lehane of Australia when Miss Lehane retired because of a twisted ankle. The U.S. girl had taken the first set 6-1 but was trailing 1-2 in the second when the Australian withdrew.

Ann Haydon Jones of Britain defeated Donna Floyd Fales 6-4, 6-1 in a fourth women's singles match and won the right to face Miss Moffitt in the semi-finals Thursday.

However, since none of the other eight teams in the Canadian Football League appear ready to concede the Grey Cup to the Lions, there is a lineup to select from a 55-man roster. And at the moment there are holes in it.

Lions' first injury came Monday—to a player who came to camp only to learn the plays and get healthy.

SHOULDER INJURY
Burton, the brilliant rookie back who was knocked out by mid-season with a torn Achilles tendon, fell over teammate Greg Findlay while playing catch. He suffered a shoulder injury.

Larscheid, a knee injury which could keep him out for the early part of the season. Seale has a broken hand and appears a slight and fast-disappearing limp from a pounding taken in the east-west college all-America game last Saturday.

AT THE 19th
With Harry Young

The selection of the British Columbia Willingdon Cup team this year is not likely to be so simple a matter as it has been for several past years.

The reason is that two seasoned campaigners, Johnnie Johnston and Bob Kidd, have indicated that they are non-participants. This means that of last year's team only Bill Wakeham and Bert Ticehurst remain.

Amateur events in B.C. so far this year have not thrown up any outstanding performers among the newcomers, and some of the former Willingdon Cuppers who are bound to come in for consideration have shown rather less than the standard of consistency required for provincial election.

This week's Ogopogo tournament at Kelowna, and the B.C. Amateur at Richmond next week may throw some light on the Willingdon situation.

However the B.C. Golf Association is taking no chances on being left with insufficient evidence. Although its next meeting on Saturday, July 13, immediately following the final of the B.C. Amateur, is called for the selection of the team, it points out that this may be delayed for a further meeting if it is felt necessary to stage a trial match of some candidates.

Although B.C. finished fourth in last year's competition at London, Ont., the province's record in the Willingdon in recent years has been second to none.

This record has been established by a comparative handful of players, and with some of these either no longer available or past their peak, it is clear that new foundations will have to be laid.

Chestnut War

Front Yard 'No Man's Land'

An Esquimalt man whose front yard has become the "no man's land" of a children's chestnut war, has asked that the battleground be removed.

"Each child who plays in the tree has his own special branch which he will fight for," wrote Mr. Siscoe.

"This is dangerous to the children and leaves leaves and branches littering the street. When the chestnuts get ripe, they provide ammunition for the battles," he said.

He said children also left behind them a litter of rocks and chestnut shells after they had cracked them open.

Council decided to refer the problem to the parks committee for a report on whether the tree should be removed.

Stormy Aftermath to Election

Liberals Purge 22 Members For Supporting Isherwood

By TED SHACKLEFORD

The split in Victoria Liberal Association which started before the April federal election threatened to erupt into physical violence at a special meeting last night as pro-Groos and pro-Isherwood members clashed in a battle which saw 22 pro-Isherwood members cast out of the Liberal organization.

The split developed over entry of David Groos into Victoria federal riding as a candidate for the Liberal nomination in opposition to Foster Isherwood who had the nomination in the previous election. Mr. Groos had unsuccessfully contested two elections in Esquimalt-Saanich against Conservative MP George Chatterton.

A nominating convention named Groos as the Liberal candidate, but Isherwood supporters charged an illegal ballot and he ran as an independent Liberal candidate against Groos. Groos was elected with 14,001 votes. Isherwood polled 3,351.

Former Victoria MLA George Gregory took part in bitter exchanges at last night's meeting with two of the 22 members—Saanich Liberal association president James Gorst and Victoria Ward One president Sidney Smith.

Mr. Gorst charged that Mr. Gregory had secretly taped a telephone conversation and Mr. Smith made threats to publish the text of a "skunk cabbage" letter he said was written by Mr. Gregory.

"You'd forgotten about that hadn't you, George," he said. Basis of the expulsion of the 22 persons was a special resolution adopted by the central executive of the Victoria body April 29, pointing out that under section 4.01 any member who stands as a candidate opposed to the official Liberal candidate, or who signs the opposing candidate's nomination papers, automatically ceases to be a member.

Special Resolution

The bylaws also provide that a person so expelled cannot rejoin by passage of an extraordinary resolution put to members.

Members named in the special resolution were: Foster Isherwood, 2430 Lansdowne; Sidney C. Smith, 1728 Howroyd; A. G. Beattie, 1960 Brighton; James H. Gorst, 325 Davida; Sheila E. Hobbs, 708 Suffolk; Mary Kendall, 617 Catherine; Marie Farrah, 3133 Carroll; Edward J. Wood, 1702 Belmont; W. G. Ellis, 1400 Newton; J. A. and Martha Grandmaison, 838 Craigflower; Linda Smith, 1258 Yates; D. S. and Shirley McAllister, 2340 Trent; George B. Isherwood, 2430 Lansdowne; Norma H. Smith, 919 Vancouver.

Chad Smith, 1419 Stanley; Leta Petticrew, 1970 Fort; William McCreadie, 1006 Lyall; Isabella Corbin, 793 Hillside; Harold K. Corbin, 793 Hillside; Kathleen Price, 930 Empress.

Present at the meeting but not named in the resolution, Foster Isherwood's brother, John, remained in the meeting after the 22 were thrown out. At one point, Mr. Gorst objected to interruptions from Mrs. C. L. Cox. He pointed out that he had the floor.

"The way this meeting is being run . . . we spent four solid years throwing that sort of thing out of Germany," he said heatedly.

'Be Careful . . . Buster'

Ken Cox, secretary of the association, reached over the table and grabbed Mr. Gorst's shoulder.

"Be careful what you're saying, Buster," he said. Acting president Michael Griffin intervened and the incident ended.

Mr. Gorst, president of the Saanich Liberal Association since June, 1960, was an active supporter of Mr. Groos in his two Esquimalt-Saanich campaigns, and nominated Mr. Groos in 1962.

He still retains his presidency of the Saanich Liberals, although he has been booted out of the Victoria Liberal group.

Foster Isherwood was not present at the meeting. After the 22 persons named had been expelled, he told the Colonist:

"If I am an embarrassment to the Liberal party, I must say the Liberal party is a greater embarrassment to me because of its conduct here in Victoria, and certainly, all events have proven, their record to date in Ottawa."

"I think it is a disgraceful situation when a cabinet minister performs as Mr. Gordon (federal finance minister) has and it violates all the forms of British parliamentary tradition."

'Pleased to Break Ties'

"I don't wish to associate with them in any way, shape or form . . . I am pleased to break my ties with the Liberals publicly."

The stormy meeting took 90 minutes to deal with the resolution and consider the possible re-admission of rebels to membership.

When Mr. Gorst objected to the persons who signed Isherwood's nomination paper, Mr. Gregory claimed Gorst was a witness to signatures on the paper.

He challenged Gorst: "Do you want me to get that tape and bring it down here and play it?"

Gorst: "Yes, you get that tape and tell everyone how you put it on my telephone."

Mr. Gorst was challenged that he had given an undertaking not to work against Mr. Groos but he denied it.

"I gave . . . no undertaking other than that I would not make a public resignation from the central executive of this organization before April 8," he contended.

Later Mr. Gorst said: "You have called a meeting and you are presiding over the demise of it."

"I worked for Capt. Groos twice, I worked for Capt. Groos when he came in here with a Conservative card in his pocket."

About an hour after the meeting began Mr. Griffin adjourned for five minutes and all persons present who were named on the resolution were asked to leave.

Reopening of the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Centre at 321 Johnson Street will take place Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Delay Asked

Courts Shift Stirs Uproar

Saanich council will ask Attorney-General Bonner to postpone the transfer of Greater Victoria police courts to the Saanich police-fire building for two months, to give the municipalities time to work out a cost-sharing agreement.

Meanwhile, Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils took steps last night to block the police courts' merger ordered by the attorney-general's department.

FIRST SITTING TODAY

First sitting of city police court in the Vernon Avenue Saanich courtroom is scheduled for this morning. Oak Bay police court is scheduled there Friday and Esquimalt police court is scheduled there Monday.

Saanich council indicated last night it is willing to go along with the court merger order if adequate compensation is to be paid for use of the Vernon Avenue facilities. Council's notification of what it generally considered a hasty decision by the attorney-general's department was a copy of a letter addressed to Magistrate William Oster.

OAK BAY PROTEST

Oak Bay council will send letters of protest to Premier Bennett and Mr. Bonner, and will ask for a delay of the court move until the matter has been discussed more thoroughly.

Esquimalt council authorized Reeve A. C. Wurtele to call a meeting of the other three reeves and the mayor of Victoria to discuss what action they can take to oppose the police courts move.

LACK OF CONSULTATION

Both Reeve Wurtele and Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay criticized the lack of consultation with municipalities here before the order for the courtroom merger was issued.

Up to now, Oak Bay police court has been held in the municipal hall on Oak Bay Avenue and Esquimalt police court has been held in the city courtroom on Fisgard Street.

Reeves of both these municipalities called attention to extra costs which will be incurred in the transportation of prisoners and other persons to the Saanich courtroom, and of contributions towards operation of the Saanich courtroom.

"We should ignore the order until we get official notification. Let's remand the cases until we find where we stand," suggested Coun. Bert Nelson in Esquimalt council.

Two Men Fight For Life

Sandy William Sands, 1926 Fairfield, passenger in a car which flipped over Saturday into a rock wall on the Island Highway near Thetis Lake, was in poor condition in St. Joseph's Hospital last night. Driver John Turnbull and passenger Howard Hamm, both of Courtenay, suffered minor injuries. Sands was trapped in the wreckage for about half an hour before RCMP could free him. Clifford Furbank, 57, of 2421 Mowat, was also still in poor condition at St. Joseph's following an accident early Friday at Cook and Fort.

Members of faculty of Victoria University crowded onto rough clods of clay yesterday during ceremony to mark transition of Victoria College into full-fledged university status. Some 500 alumni and friends gathered to watch historic occasion.—(Bud Kinsman)

College Graduates from UBC

Victoria College graduated from the University of British Columbia yesterday in a small, friendly ceremony on the Gordon Head campus, watched by some 500 alumni, students, faculty and friends.

The ceremony marked the founding of Victoria University but it was the second convocation held in Victoria. Chancellor Judge J. B. Clearhue said:

"The first convocation of the University of British Columbia met here in the South Park School August 21, 1912." He said. Turning to Dr. Gordon Shrum, appointed chancellor of the not-yet-built Simon Fraser University on the mainland, he added:

"In order that it might be properly done, I hereby issue an invitation to Dr. Shrum to hold the convocation of Simon Fraser in Victoria, too."

"Great universities are not built by design, they are fostered and developed through the ages by great religious, political and economic forces."

"Men must have liberty to think freely and express their opinions. It is only in this way that knowledge can be preserved, fostered and expanded."

"It must be remembered that the University of Victoria is not part of the Government of British Columbia."

"It is an independent university . . . belonging to and supported by the people of British Columbia and in particular by you, the citizens of Victoria."

Paying tribute to the generosity of the late Thomas Mc-

Pherson who left the university a bequest of more than $2,000,000 in his will, Chancellor Clearhue added:

"It was only through our knowledge of his generosity that we were able to plan this campus. We owe him much and we are planning to commemorate his memory in a suitable manner."

Absence of Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay from the ceremony caused raised eyebrows among many present. After Mayor R. B. Wilson of Victoria, Reeve Stanley Murphy of Saanich and Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt had offered their municipalities' congratulations, Chancellor Clearhue took the stand, paused, and asked if Reeve Murdoch was present.

"I was very disappointed at missing the ceremony," he said. "I will write a letter of apology to the Chancellor tomorrow."

Official greetings and congratulations came from as far away as Oxford University in England, signed by British

There has been some friction between the municipality of Oak Bay and university development officials over the question of whether high rise buildings should be built in a ring around the Gordon Head campus.

Reeve Murdoch told the Colonist last night he was unavoidably detained at the last minute by a conference with Highways Minister P. A. Gallagher.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as Chancellor. The message was read by Chancellor Clearhue, himself a former Oxford man.

Greetings and congratulations, read during the ceremony by representatives of the various bodies included:

Province of B.C., Mr. Peterson; UBC, Dean S. N. F. Chant; Simon Fraser University, Dr. Shrum, Notre Dame University at Nelson, Rev. Father Aquinas; McGill University, Mayor R. B. Wilson; University of Manitoba, Dr. George Shelton; Canadian Association of University Teachers, Dr. Beattie McLean; Victoria Chamber of Commerce, president John Wallace; University of Washington, Prof.

Symbolic "opening" of the new university was performed by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes who unveiled the cornerstone of the new library to be built on the campus.

"I declare this stone well and truly laid," he said. After a short ceremony, distinguished guests and faculty moved back to the Student Union building in an academic procession.

Garden Notes

Vines Hide Eyesores

By M. N. CHESNUT, FRHS

Occasionally, in our gardening operations, we run across a need to conceal or drape some unsightly structure or object in the garden which is out of character, spoiling the picture we are trying to create. It could be a tool shed, the bare blank wall of the garage, a dead tree or tree stump or, in the case of a summer cottage, it might even be the lattice screen hiding the outdoor bitty.

Amongst vines such as the climbing nasturtium, morning glories and the dainty canary bird vine all can do a grand job of softening the outlines of such eyesores, but you have to start them afresh every spring and the summer is half over before the vines are big enough to do any screening. A really vigorous, rampant, perennial vine does a much more permanent job of concealment.

The climbing hydrangea is an excellent subject for this purpose. Hydrangea petiolaris, which is its correct name, will grow to a height of 50 feet eventually and is admirably suited for clothing a lofty dead tree, for instance. Just plant it and let it go its own way, for it needs no training or pruning and will produce its flattish white flowers in June.

This is one of the very few flowering vines which will do well on a sunless north-facing wall.

Where speed is of the essence, the fastest-growing of them all is polytaenium baldschuanicum, known as the Russian vine. This one will make as much as 20 feet easily in a single season and, if you give it lots of elbow room, it will spread in all directions and is most useful for trailing over rubbish heaps, unsightly dry banks, tree stumps and the like, as well as more vertical supports.

In late June, when the flowers appear, the entire vine is transformed from green to pale pink, with a cascade of thousands of tiny flowers. As the seed pods are the same color as the blossoms, the vine will still appear to be in flower into October. I should warn you, though, that once you plant the Russian vine, it will be with you to the end of your gardening days, for once it twines itself around any support, it stays entwined.

A perennial climber which is becoming increasingly popular with the floral art buffs is celastrium or bitter-sweet. There are two kinds, celastrium scandens, which is rampant but not tall-growing, suitable for pergolas and low walls, and celastrium orbiculatum from western China, which shoots up to 30 feet in a couple of seasons.

The bitter-sweet is a woody vine and the greenish flowers are small and insignificant, but the pod-shaped seed vessels are real beauties, much sought after for floral arrangements. These pods are green at first, ripening to a golden yellow, then splitting open to reveal the brilliant scarlet seeds, like rubies in a jewel box. The vines are perfectly hardy and quite at home on a north wall or any other aspect for that matter.

There is one fly in the ointment, though. Like the holly, most specimens of bitter-sweet are unisexual. There are boy vines and girl vines and, if you happen to plant a boy vine, you get none of those brilliantly colored seed pods in autumn. If you plant a girl vine with no boy friend handy, again there will be none of that dramatic opening of the seed pods to reveal their ruby-like contents. If you are very lucky, you may run across a vine bearing both male and female blossoms, otherwise it is best to plant at least three specimens in the hope of getting vines of both sexes. This vine is fairly easy to grow from seed.

The Call Girl Situation, by ART BUCHWALD

What Hath God Wrought?

Christine Keeler
Abuses Privileges

No matter what newspaper you open these days, you're bound to find a story about call girls. The Christine Keeler-John Profumo-Stephen Ward story started the fad and now every country is looking into its own call girl situation.

This is not so much out of any serious soul-searching, as much as it certainly helps newspaper circulation during the long hot summer months.

In New York attempts have been made to get UN leader U Thant to investigate the charges that call girls had become part of the United Nations.

So far all that has been dug up is that one call girl, holding of all things a journalist's card, (Oh, the shame of it all!) plied her trade in the delegates' lounge and that Christine Keeler and her girl friend came to New York and lived in a hotel filled with UN representatives for a week.

Whether Christine worked or played or just went sightseeing has never been revealed.

There are probably some people who are wondering just what a call girl is. A call girl is one who is called on the telephone for a date for which she accepts money to pay her telephone bill.

Every country that has telephones has call girls. That is what Alexander Graham Bell's first words on his telephone were "What hath God wrought?"

The difference between a call girl and one who plies her trade in a house or on the street, is that a call girl has an answering service.

Some call girls do not necessarily get paid by the person they are dating. They are paid by a third party to please a second party whom they are trying to soften up for either a business deal, a political favor or information for espionage purposes.

In some cases the second party is unaware that the first party (the call girl) is getting paid by the third party, until the third party produces photographs of the first party and the second party having a party together. This is known as blackmail.

The iron curtain countries are pretty good at this sort of thing and most of the girls in the Communist world are paid by the State.

In the free world call girls are part of the free enterprise system and this is one of the things the cold war is all about. In the free world you have your choice of call girls, while in a totalitarian country you have to take what the state gives you.

Former chief of the CIA Allen Dulles said in a TV interview the other day that the use of sex as a lure in espionage is worldwide and "as long as there is sex it's going to be used."

Therefore we must assume that the West uses call girls when necessary to get the information it wants. But we like to think the girls on our side are doing this dangerous work for patriotic reasons only, and give the money they earn to charity.

It is only when a call girl compromises her own side, as in the case of Miss Keeler, who almost brought down her own government by granting her favors to both a British cabinet minister and a Russian naval attaché, that the line must be drawn.

Miss Keeler abused her telephone privileges. For this reason, if for nothing else, we think she should be drummed out of her answering service in disgrace.

CHARLES McDOWELL Eavesdrops at the Pool

Let the Girl Breathe!

Or Some Mothers Say the Darndest Things

When a man sits long in the sun his brain steams, and the vapors confuse his senses. That is why we cannot be sure of what we heard at the neighborhood swimming pool the other day.

We may have imagined some of it, and we certainly hope so.

To let the sun warm us after a dip, we sat on a towel and leaned back against the fence around the wading pool. We dozed and dreamed. Then, gradually, we became aware of the sounds of children splashing in the little pool behind us, and of the voices of some mothers who were watching over them from chairs within the enclosure.

There seem to have been three mothers, one with a high voice, one with a low voice, and one with a sing-song voice.

"Miranda Sue!" said the one with the high voice. "Quit hitting Penelope Jean with that alligator." The one with the high voice said, "I'm not going to tell you again, Miranda Sue."

The one with the low voice said, "So the diet he put me on was lettuce, lemonade and dry Rice Krispies three times a day, and all the chocolate cake I could eat once a week. Put your face in the water, Gormey. You know Daddy won't come to the pool with us again until you put your face in the water."

"Don't eat the little girl's duck, Sweetheart," said the one with the sing-song voice. "The chlorine isn't good for you."

There was an interlude of deafening whooping and screaming in the wading pool, and when we were able to hear the mothers again the one with the low voice was saying, "I don't mind having her two little girls in the handicrafts car pool, and I am willing to drop the big one off to have her braces tightened on Thursdays, but I am just going to have to tell her that dropping the dog at obedience class is too much. The nice water won't hurt your nose, Gormey. Isn't it worth chinking a little to make Daddy proud of you?"

"Miranda Sue, quit hitting Penelope Jean with that alligator," the one with the high voice said. "I'm not going to tell you again, Miranda Sue."

"I had that dog in the kindergarten car pool," the one with the sing-song voice said. "Did you ever see a bigger dog? I've seen horses that were smaller. Let the little girl breathe every now and then, Sweetheart."

The one with the low voice said, "I swear there ought to be a limit on the size of dogs in car pools. Any dog that can stand in the back seat and touch the radio with his nose is too big."

"I never let them play the radio when I drive the car pool," the one with the sing-song voice said. "It just causes arguments. Let the little girl breathe again now, Sweetheart."

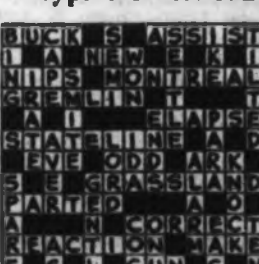

Another loud altercation in the wading pool overwhelmed the mothers' voices for a time, and when they became audible again the one with the low voice was saying, "You know, that's the second time in a week that I've heard of a pediatrician saying a child caught a bug from an elm tree. I must say, I dread taking the children for another round of shots."

"Miranda Sue, quit hitting Penelope Jean with that alligator," the one with the high voice said. "Let her have the alligator now. It's her turn to hit you. I'm not going to tell you again, Miranda Sue."

The one with the sing-song voice said, "I don't think my pediatrician even believes in elm trees. He's old-fashioned, thank heaven. Give the little girl artificial respiration, Sweetheart."

Answer to Sunday's
Crypt-A-Crossword

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institution has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and eases elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school junior who undertook a part-time job which will enable me to save money for college.

A certain married woman who works in the shipping department where I load trucks has been very nice to me. I think she would like to be a lot nicer and this is my problem.

She is supposed to be through work at 6:00 p.m. but she always hangs around to have a cup of coffee with me. Her husband works the night shift and she says she doesn't have anything to do at home.

Yesterday she told me I ought to part my hair in the middle and then she took her comb out of her purse and started combing. She got so close to me she steamed up my glasses. I like her, Ann, but I don't want to get mixed up with a married woman. She has pull with the boss and I can't take a chance on hurting her feelings. Please tell me what to do.—NO JOKE.

Dear No Jokey: Tell that shipping room Cleopatra you think she is charming but married women are strictly out of bounds. Then part your hair on the side, Buster.

Dear Ann Landers: I am furious with the mother of those eight children who wrote she "could scream" when she sees someone on the porch with a box of hand-me-down clothes.

The woman may speak for herself, but she certainly does not speak for me. I have seven children. My husband has a good job, as hers does. We are not wealthy either—just comfortable. Our friends and relatives have been bringing us hand-me-downs ever since the children were babies. It's been a great help.

I've never considered hand-me-downs an expression of pity. They are gifts of good will from people who like and respect us. The children's attitudes are extremely healthy. They have never been too proud to wear second-hand clothes. They actually argue about who is going to get what.

So, please, Ann Landers, make it plain that NONE of us love to see those boxes. Humility is not an altogether extinct virtue.—GRATEFUL.

Dear Grateful: YOU made it plain and I thank you. Dear Ann Landers: I have a touchy problem which re-

Honeymoon in Europe For Mr. and Mrs. Koel

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Koel have left for a two-month honeymoon in Europe following their marriage last evening in Victoria West United Church. Rev. G. H. Turpin officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Butler and the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Koel, all of Victoria.

White daisies and pink carnations decorated the church and the "Wedding Prayer" was sung by Sharon Williams.

The bride, the former Lois Diane Butler, chose a full-length gown of organza over peau de soie, detailed with lace applique on the bodice. Her shoulder-length veil puffed from a dainty crown of Swiss embroidered lace and peau de soie. Her cultured pearl earrings were the gift of the groom and she carried pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Margaret Meublok, bridesmatron, Mrs. D. Danroth, and flower girl, Little Judy Webber, were all in full-skirted dresses of ice blue crystal charm with matching shoes and headpieces. They carried white and pink carnations. The bride's five-year-old cousin, Colin Boettcher, was ring bearer.

Mr. Donald Danroth was best man and Mr. Peter Koel, and Mr. David Butler ushered guests.

Mr. William Leggett proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at a reception held in the Carlton Club.

For travelling the bride changed to a tailored oatmeal colored tweed coat over a blue and green floral print silk dress with toning accessories.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. Butler, Miss Alice Christensen, Saskatoon; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Koel, Mr. and Mrs. L. Weatherhead, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. E. Erickson, Brenda and Ronald, Cowichan Bay; Mr. and Mrs. P. Postma, Aldergrove; Mr. and Mrs. G. De Lange, Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. D. Danroth, Nanaimo; and Mr. and Mrs. R. Barringer of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Braithwaite, 56 Boyd Street, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary July 4, although their actual wedding date is April 30. The couple waited until their son and his family, who live in Saskatoon, could join them for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. John Braithwaite and Janice, John and Robert will arrive this week from the Prairies. Mr. and Mrs. Braithwaite were married in Ripon, Yorkshire, and came to Canada the same year. After living briefly in Manitoba, they settled in Saskatoon and came to retire in Victoria in 1946.

Mrs. William Larry Mosure, the former Lea McEwan, was honored at surprise shower at the home of Miss Barbara Dickinson prior to her marriage. A pink and white carnation corsage was presented to the guest of honor while her mother, Mrs. J. McEwan, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. E. Mosure, received pink carnations.

Bride Wears Irish Lace

Crossmaglen lace imported from Ireland and patterned with shamrocks and good luck charms, formed the veil worn by Helena Ruth Wiggs for her recent marriage to Mr. Ray Rosson Irvine. A cap of shirred silk held the misting veil.

The bridal gown was of pure silk faille, styled with a banquette bodice and sweetheart neckline, delicately embroidered with Goutpore lace. The full skirt, posed over a hoop, was appliqued with lace and flowers. She carried pink rosebuds, stephanotis and white carnations.

The marriage took place in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, with Rev. Canon H. J. Jones officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wiggs, Springfield Street. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Del Irvine, Langford Street.

Choir-boys led the bridal party down the aisle and sang during the signing of the register.

Attendants, Miss Lorna Walker, Miss Maureen Elder, Mrs. J. Bradshaw and Mrs. V. Forssen were in identical summer dresses of periwinkle mauve and white print silk. The frocks featured short sleeves and draped necklines. They chose white organza picture hats and carried mauve and white carnations.

Mr. Victor R. Forsen was best man and Mr. Leslie Irvine, Mr. Russell Wiggs and Mr. Michael Gutman ushered guests.

At a reception held in the Club Soho, Mr. Alfred J. Wiggs proposed the toast to the bride. Silver candelabra with pink tapers and flowers flanked the three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's mother, Charlie Caze's orchestra provided music.

Leaving on a honeymoon in Reno and Lake Tahoe, Nev., the bride changed to an Italian knit suit in Rosato pink. Silk embroidery highlighted the jacket which featured a jewel neckline. Her outfit was complemented with a pink panama hat. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Irvine will make their home at 1140 Esquimalt Road.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. Carruthers, Miss M. E. Carruthers, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. B. Davies, Robson, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Crutcher, Cle Elum, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Brice, Nanaimo.

ST. ANDREW'S
St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will meet July 4 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will take the form of a bon voyage party for members and associate members returning to Scotland later in the month.

Road Job

Oak Bay council moved another step last night toward reconstruction of Cadboro Bay Road without installation of sidewalks.

Council last night gave three readings to a bylaw calling for widening of the road from Beach Drive to Dalhousie Street.

COSTS SHARED
Cost of the approximately $250,000 project is to be met by $100,000 from the B.C. government, $100,000 from the municipality and the rest from owners of property fronting on the affected stretch of road.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said after last night's council meeting that plans to include sidewalk installation in the project were dropped after some of the taxpayers along the road petitioned against them.

SIDEWALKS LATER
But council last month resolved to ask affected property owners to approve or reject the sidewalks separately later.

Reeve Murdoch said the work, including road widening and paving, curbing and surface drains, likely will begin this winter, and will be eligible for a federal government winter works grant.

SAANICH END FIRST
He said the work will likely begin at the Saanich boundary end, where there now is a serious bottleneck.

Council also gave first three readings last night to a bylaw banning parking from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. on the Esplanade.

Reeve Murdoch said a special short council meeting would likely be called soon to finally approve the bylaw "so the police can get to work."

Truck Route

Span Talk

Silenced

By Cost

Rough cost estimate of between $700,000 and $1,000,000 for construction of a high-level road bridge across Rock Bay yesterday caused aldermen to quickly revise plans for a truck route bypassing crowded Government Street.

For a start, at least, traffic committees told the engineering department, detailed studies of the route should ignore the possibility of a bridge.

STUDY CHANGES
Instead it will concentrate on changes necessary to allow heavy trucks bound for Orford Point docks to go via Herald or Chatham to Store and Wharf Streets. The Johnson-Store-Wharf intersection will probably be the first to be revamped under the amended scheme.

There will also be further study of a proposal to extend the sidewalk beyond the present causeway wall by means of a cantilever span so that the roadway in front of the Empress Hotel can be widened to ease congestion there.

FIRST STEP
Mayor R. B. Wilson said the action taken by the committee is the "first step" towards creation of a truck route and when implemented would undoubtedly ease the present congestion on Government.

The mayor was also asked to inquire whether there is any possibility of federal aid in the proposed high-level bridge projects at both Rock Bay and the $4,000,000 Victoria West-James Bay span, regarded as the "ideal solution" to the truck problem.

FEDERAL AID CASE
The committee based its case for federal aid on the fact that both bridges would cross navigable waterways and the truck traffic mainly is bound for the CNR docks at the Outer Wharf.

Possibility of including a $100,000 project to extend Shelbourne Street two blocks, to Begbie Street which angles through to Pandora, thus creating a new through route to the downtown area, was referred to city manager C. C. Wyatt for study.

Engineers' Board
A special committee comprised of municipal engineers may be formed to study Greater Victoria's sewage disposal problems, it was learned last night.

A recommendation from the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health recommending formation of the committee met approval by Saanich council, which was willing to co-operate if the provincial government also participates and if terms of reference for the committee are clearly defined.

IN SAME BOAT
Coun. Leslie Pasmore told council that all the municipalities here are "in the same boat" with sewage disposal problems that have to be solved.

"Isn't this with the intention of forming a metropolitan sewer board?" asked Coun. Joseph Casey.

"Yes, this may be the intention, but I don't think all the engineers will agree with it," replied Neville Life, Saanich municipal engineer.

OBLIGATION
Coun. Gregory Cook felt that since the metro health board had scuttled Saanich's recent Colquitz Creek sewage treatment plant application before the provincial pollution control board, the health board has "a definite and specific obligation of clearing up the problem, and should bring the provincial government into it."

Pay Phone Here 'First'
Through the efforts of the local management of the B.C. Telephone Company, Victoria has scored a first for B.C. with the installation of a shelter-type pay station on the northeast corner of Quadra and Yates Streets.

The new booth is open in the front and protected on the sides by clear shatter-proof glass panels.

The well-lighted open booth gives a high degree of protection from the sun and rain, and its slim line makes it ideally suited for sidewalk use.

Museum On Stilts?

A new provincial museum may have to be built on pilings if it goes up on the site said to have been chosen by Premier Bennett.

Drilling tests on the location, a civil service parking lot at Government and Belleville, have disclosed loose gravel and water.

But public works department officials say they could run into a rock formation further down or could put the building on a concrete pad poured over 50-foot-long friction pilings.

Gagliardi Acts

Angry Merchants

Granted Reprieve

Highways Minister Gagliardi has given temporary reprieve to Saanich's isolated Douglas Street merchants by assuring them talks will precede any move to prohibit left turns at Dupplin Road, it was learned yesterday.

Saanich merchants are up in arms about a highways department proposal to forbid left turns to and from Dupplin and to and from Roderick Street.

PINCH FEARED
Merchants believe that the plan is aimed at improving access to the new Mayfair shopping centre on the city boundary and that it would pinch off the last bit of customer traffic now reaching the area.

Some merchants went out of business and others were seriously affected by the Capital Improvement District Commission's recent Douglas Street parking ban.

Negroes Set Washington March Date
NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of Negro leaders Tuesday announced "a peaceful mass march" on Washington Aug. 28 in support of civil rights legislation.

"The march will be a dramatic expression that will arouse the conscience of the nation," according to Rev. Martin Luther King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Both King and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, stressed that the march by Negroes and whites would not involve civil disobedience.

In Washington, Attorney General Robert Kennedy said "there is a serious question" whether Negroes or other Americans have a constitutional right to be served in a private establishment which has no connection with the federal, state or local government. The courts have never held there is such a right, he said.

Sex Kitten Mandy Talks—Takes Off

LONDON (CP) — Mandy Rice-Davies, the honey blonde sex kitten witness in the Stephen Ward vice hearing, has given the government more names of her famous playmates, friends said Monday.

But she refused to postpone a vacation to Majorca, the main Balearic island off the coast of Spain in the Mediterranean, and instead testified before Lord Denning, the judge investigating the security side of the Profumo affair.

John Profumo resigned as war minister after he told the Commons he lied about his association with Mandy's party girl friend Christine Keeler.

Miss Keeler testified at the Ward hearing last week that she had intercourse with Profumo and he gave her gifts and money. Miss Keeler also disclosed she had intercourse "once" at the time with Capt. Yevkemy Ivanov, Soviet naval attache since recalled home.

Mandy, 18, was given the movie-star treatment as she arrived at London Airport to fly to Majorca.

Then, with cameras clicking, she was asked to delay her departure so she could testify before Lord Denning. The request came from Denning's confidential secretary.

Friends said Mandy told them: "I refused, but I gave her (the secretary) some names of other famous people I have met and other information too confidential to mention."

"But when I return I will make a full statement."

Miss Keeler, 21, was questioned by Denning for two hours Monday.

U.S. 'Self-Interest' Ensures Europe Aid

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — President Kennedy called for continued co-operation between the U.S. and Western Europe as a step toward world unity.

At the Vatican Tuesday morning, Kennedy, first Roman Catholic president of the United States, was received by Pope Paul. The new supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church praised Kennedy's efforts to end racial discrimination in the U.S. and to promote world peace.

In Rome, Kennedy and Italian President Antonio Segni issued a joint communique in which Italy expressed a favorable attitude toward participating in studies on the possible development of a NATO multilateral nuclear fleet.

"Both sides confirmed their firm intention of persevering in the search for appropriate means to alleviate international tensions," the communique said.

'Wind Grabbed Us' Seven Die On Runway

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Mohawk Airliner crashed and burned on takeoff in a heavy rain and hail storm at the Rochester-Monroe County airport Tuesday and at least seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed. All the rest were reported injured.

Among the known dead were the pilot and first officer of the twin-engine Martin 404 and five passengers.

Witnesses reported the violent storm broke over the airport just as the plane began its take-off.

They said the craft hardly left the runway when it veered sharply to the left and its wing tip appeared to touch the ground. Then the plane plummeted sharply to earth, plowing into a muddy area—the site of a runway-extension and a road relocation project.

One side of the plane burst into flames upon impact, witnesses reported. Debris from the crash was strewn as far away as 100 yards.

Although lightning flashed over the airport at the time of takeoff it was believed the plane was not hit.

One passenger, Thomas Mayer, 35, of Westport, Conn., gave this account of the crash:

"The wind grabbed us the minute we left the ground. I could tell what was going to happen. So I started praying."

"We were only 100 feet off the ground," Mayer said. "Maybe only 75 feet. It happened within 20 seconds. How high can you go in 20 seconds in that type of plane?"

"Don't ask me how I got out. I saw daylight so I got the belt off as fast as I could and I headed for daylight."

Deposit Given Boost For 'Unreliable' Types

VERNON (CP)—Businessman E. G. Eakins of Vancouver when he arranged to rent a trailer here last week, was told the price was $35 plus $30 deposit.

When he arrived Monday to pick it up, he was in full uniform as Brig. E. G. Eakins, senior officer of the British Columbia Militia.

The price had gone up.

The brigadier was told by an unidentified woman at the trailer park that because he was "an army type" and therefore "not too reliable," the deposit would have to be $50.

Brig. Eakins went elsewhere.

Grits Win New Test

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government survived its fourth non-confidence test of the young parliamentary session Tuesday night as a Progressive Conservative motion against the minority administration was defeated in the Commons.

Voting for the Conservative motion, which accused the government of creating confusion in the economy, were 61 Conservatives, 15 New Democratic MPs and Guy Macrae, Independent Social Credit member for Quebec—Montreal center.

Opposed with 86 Liberals, 18 Social Credit MPs and Frank Howard (NDP—Shuswap).

Final vote was 115 to 76.

Gordon:

Revenue Must Climb

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Tuesday night it is "absolutely necessary" for the federal government to have more revenue.

Hence the sales taxes, he told the Commons shortly before a vote on a Conservative non-confidence motion based on the budget proposals.

GO ON DRIFTING

"If the people of Canada are not willing to back a government which has a program, and pay more taxes in the interim, then we will have to go on drifting and that inevitably means we will end up on the rocks."

Mr. Gordon said that had the government not imposed the sales taxes, the deficit in the current fiscal year would exceed $700,000,000. Next year it could top $1,000,000,000.

There's a Reason For the Sweetness

By TERRY HAMMOND

The unique aura of sweetness and light currently surrounding B.C.-Ottawa relations got another stay of execution yesterday when Premier Bennett continued his steadfast refusal to comment on the federal budget.

Ever since Finance Minister Walter Gordon brought down his controversial budget June 17 reporters have been trying to get the premier's evaluation of it.

Never before has he been so reticent.

From a newsman travelling with the cabinet on its swing through the Kootenays last month the premier got the budget highlights hours after they were delivered in the House of Commons.

He found them "interesting" but asked for more time to study the budget before he said anything further.

By yesterday it was apparent he had studied the budget fully because he told newsmen he had made representations to Ottawa asking for a "second look" at the 11 per cent tax on building materials.

But he still refused to say what he thought of the document.

Observers believe his reticence may evaporate with the signing of the agreement for development of the Columbia River power project.

Members of the government have made no secret of the fact that until the knotty Columbia problem is solved Ottawa is to get kid-glove treatment.

Although Premier Bennett's views on the Liberal budget have never been expressed, it is known that he is an arch-enemy of any measures likely to impede industrial expansion.

Yesterday he wouldn't even criticize the 11 per cent tax.

"I made no personal representations," was all he would say.

Arrested after 'terrific struggle': the Egorovs

SPY DRAGNET SNARES FOUR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI agents in New York and Washington Tuesday arrested two married couples—including a Russian diplomat—on charges of conspiring with Soviet intelligence to supply the Kremlin with U.S. military secrets over the last six years.

GALKIN
... co-conspirators

... left country

In addition to these four, the FBI said there were two other conspirators who have now left the United States. They had worked at the United Nations but were described in the FBI complaint as "officers of the GRU, Soviet Military Intelligence."

TOOK OTHER NAMES

Seized in New York were a Russian working as a UN official and his Russian wife. Arrested in Washington was a "John Doe" who, according to the FBI, took the name of a real Catholic priest, Robert Balch, to masquerade his true identity, and his wife, who assumed the real name of a Connecticut housewife, Joy Ann Garbar.

The FBI moved immediately to arraign all four.

SEARCH APARTMENT

In Washington agents kept the couple in their modest apartment in the northwest part of the city long into the evening for apparent questioning and searching.

A government official, commenting on the magnitude of the ring, said "this is a big one."

It was the second Soviet espionage case disclosed by the United States in two days and involved all the traditional trappings of spies—secret messages left at "drop points," codes, ciphers and secret writings.

Sex, Spy Scandals No Joke

LONDON (AP)—Harold Wilson, leader of the opposition Labor party, accused Prime Minister Macmillan Tuesday of taking a petulant attitude and trying to laugh off the sex and spy scandals that have shaken Britain. (See also Page 22.)

In a collision in the House of Commons, Macmillan snarped back that finding the spies was a security success—not a failure—and angrily told Wilson he thought his remarks offensive.

MUST LEARN DIFFERENCE

"You really must learn to distinguish between invective and insolence," the prime minister added.

The row was touched off by a dispute over the way the Conservative government handled recent security disclosures. These were topped by Monday's revelation that diplomat-turned-journalist Harold Philby was the mysterious "third man" who warned renegade diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean to flee England in 1951.

Vanished in January

Burgess and Maclean have been in Moscow since and Philby is believed to have slipped across the Iron Curtain since he disappeared from Beirut last January.

News that Philby, once first secretary of the British embassy in Washington and believed head of security there, has actually been a Soviet agent stunned the House of Commons. Macmillan in 1955 said there was no evidence against Philby.

Verbal sword-crossing first started when a Conservative MP asked Macmillan if he planned to appoint a minister of security.

The prime minister replied that he would have to await the result of a judicial inquiry into

169 Killed

Holiday Toll Highest In Canada's History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A record-breaking 169 accidental deaths was the final solemn reckoning of Canada's three-day Dominion Day weekend celebrations.

The death toll passed the previous 1960 Dominion Day weekend record of 122 early on the third day and mounted steadily as cars poured onto highways from the return journey home and reports from lakes and rivers flooded in.

It was Canada's most grisly weekend on record, surpassing even the nation's highest five-day weekend count of 130 deaths during the 1962 Christmas period.

Altogether, 31 Canadians died in fires and seven met unclassified deaths, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to 12 midnight local time Monday shows. The National Safety Council had predicted no more than 50 would die on roads.

TWO PROVINCES HIGHER

The fatalities in Ontario and Quebec alone easily outstripped the nation's Dominion Day weekend toll of 95 last year.

Quebec's total more than doubled from a record 38 in 1958 to 78, including 41 drownings, 33 traffic fatalities, one accidental hanging, one fall, one suffocation and one tornado fatality.

Only province without an accidental death was Newfoundland, but 15 people died in the rest of the Atlantic provinces.

The traffic toll was six in B.C., five in Alberta, four in Manitoba and one in Saskatchewan.

The survey does not include known slayings or suicides, industrial accidents and natural deaths.

B.C. Prisoner Dies After Insecticide Use

VANCOUVER (CP)—A prisoner from the Hancay Correctional Institute, who suffered twice late in June from the effects of garden insecticide fumes, died in hospital Tuesday.

Authorities at Hancay said James Willard Boyce, 21, of 100 Mile House, used the insecticide June 24 without a mask and was ill the following day. He used it again June 28 and again became ill.

by Attorney-General Robert Kennedy said the six involved were conspirators in a plot to furnish the Soviet Union with information about U.S. military installations, troop movements, shipping and military water-front facilities. In addition it was understood the group tried to obtain information about U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile sites.

IN UN SECRETARIAT

Those arrested in New York were Ivan Dmitriyevich Egorov, 41, and his wife Alexandra, 38.

Egorov is a personnel officer in the United Nations secretariat. He formerly served at Soviet embassy posts in India and Canada.

They lived, according to the FBI, at Flushing, Long Island, and put up a fight when agents came to arrest them. Mrs. Egorov had to be carried out of the building.

"There was considerable resistance on the part of Mrs. Egorov," an FBI spokesman said in New York. "They both put up resistance, particularly the woman. There were no injuries, however."

Egorov and his wife were taken to FBI headquarters in Manhattan for questioning. A short time later they were taken separately from the building for arraignment.

Those seized in Washington were known to the FBI as Robert Balch and his wife, who called herself Joy Ann Garber before her marriage to Balch. The real Robert Balch is a Catholic priest and the real Joy Ann Garber is a Norwalk, Conn. housewife.

LIVING AMERICANS

A complaint filed by the FBI said the Balchs assumed the identities of the two living Americans starting some time before 1959. The real Robert Balch and the real Joy Ann Garber were not aware until the arrests that two other persons had been using their names.

The true nationality of the "Balchs" was not immediately disclosed.

The arrests came one day after the U.S. ordered the expulsion of Soviet Embassy attaché Gennady Sevastyanov on charges of trying to convert a Russian-born U.S. government employee to spy for the Soviet Union. U.S. officials said that Sevastyanov was actually working for the KGB—the Soviet secret police.

The FBI's announcement said that those arrested Tuesday had secreted messages and information in magnetic containers left in drop points in Queen's Country, N.Y. and other places. *

Treatment Needed If Child 'Cock-Eyed'

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old son seems to be "cock-eyed." They aren't crossed, but at certain times he looks at us with one eye while the other appears to be staring. If I put my hand over his eyes for a second, everything returns to normal.

Are we imagining this, or is it possible? If so, is there anything we should do about it? I have noticed this in very young infants but they quickly outgrow it.—Mrs. L. S.

I doubt if you are imagining it. This condition is known as strabismus, or a form of squint.

All sorts of variants are possible. It may seem to affect only one eye, or both, or they look shifted from one eye to the other. The eye may turn inward, outward, up or down.

Early treatment of such a condition is important, and requires analysis by an ophthalmologist, or eye specialist. Various measures may be taken—glasses, certain forms of eye exercises, surgery to correct some fault in the eye muscles.

Dear Dr. Molner: What effect on health is there from washing dishes in the kitchen sink?—C. A. A.

It's all right—provided you then put the dishes in a rack or drain on top of the sink, and pour scalding water over them to kill remaining germs. *

Dear Dr. Molner: You recently mentioned a small needle-less hand injector that is being developed for "shots" and that may be available soon.

I have been waiting for some method to ease the burden of giving insulin with a needle. I would appreciate any news. Would it be suitable for individual shots?—M. D.

I (and others) think the new "gun" will be ideal for insulin, as well as for other injections. The "shots" are virtually painless. Studies of the instrument are being made and they look very satisfactory so far.

Dear Dr. Molner: X-rays show that I have an enlarged liver. Is this serious?—Mrs. G. S. M.

With some people, depending on build, X-rays can show what seems to be an enlarged liver.

The next step, therefore, is a physical examination. If this confirms that the enlargement is real, then other tests, chiefly of a chemical nature, would be necessary to determine whether liver disease is present.

4,500 Cheer Don Messer

By BERT BERRY
It was Jubilee time at Memorial Arena last night and a crowd of 4,500 was on hand to enjoy every moment.

Don Messer's Jubilee, straight off the CBC national television network and complete with Marg Osburne, Charlie Chamberlain and the Buchta dancers provided a thoroughly popular program. They were added and abetted straight off the CBC national enterprise by Ward Allen, dancer Joe Walton, both of whom came along with the show, and by Norman Winquist's Rambling Guitars who are Victoria's own.

The items were many and varied but among the most popular were When Irish Eyes Are Smiling sung by Charlie Chamberlain, Marg Osburne's Rambling Rose and This Land Is My Land, and a Hungarian Chardas danced by Irma and Gunter Buchta.

BLACK VELVET
The Buchta dancers, full of vitality and color, excelled themselves in the Black Velvet Waltz and a delightful calspe.

Hal and Jean Mather, former Buchta dancers but now residents of Victoria, rejoined their former companions and delighted everyone with a spirited and polished rhumba. Lady in Red, Pianist Waldo Munroe's Black and White Rag was received with outstanding enthusiasm.

Had Selves to Blame

25 Missed the Boat

Twenty-five people who had to spend Monday night in the Swartz Bay ferry terminal had no one to blame but themselves, B.C. Toll Authority Ferry Service officials said Tuesday.

The 25 had disembarked at 10:30 p.m. from the Gulf Islands ferry Pender Queen, 59 minutes after the last departure for Vancouver.

Ferry service manager Henry Aldous said some in the group complained bitterly and demanded a special ferry to the mainland.

Mr. Aldous said a change in the schedule of the Pender Queen had been made weeks before and was well publicized. "What's more," Mr. Aldous stated, "the master of against cheating with underground tests and has insisted the Soviet Union permit up to seven inspections a year.

Khrushchev maintains no such inspections are necessary but offered up to three on-site inspections.

LIMITED BANS

To the East Germans gathered in an East Berlin stadium, Khrushchev said of a limited test-ban accord:

"We have made this proposal before, but the Western powers frustrated an agreement advancing supplementary conditions which envisage large-scale inspection of our territory."

If the non-aggression pact-partial ban proposal were accepted, said Khrushchev, "the question of inspection does not any longer arise, since the Western powers declared that no inspections whatever are needed to check the fulfillment by the states of their commitments to stop nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in space and underwater."

MORATORIUM

The Russians did propose in November, 1963, a ban on all but underwater tests, providing the West would accept an un-inspected moratorium on underground testing. The West refused the condition. Thereafter the Russians insisted on an all-or-nothing ban.

Now Khrushchev appears to be revising his offer, this time with a new condition attached. Diplomatic sources said the West might be listening with interest to the proposal in this form.

His declaration came near the end of a visit in East Germany where Communist leaders from East Europe gathered to celebrate the 10th birthday of East German Communist Leader Walter Ulbricht and to discuss the growing troubles within the Communist camp.

'Caddy' Attacks Wimbledon

Willie's Net Tactics Work; Even Bigger Trial Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Wilhelm Bungert, a West German tennis player, kept silent Tuesday about a plan he has hatched to beat Chuck McKinley of the United States to win a place in the men's final at the Wimbledon tennis championships.

The two men clash in the semi-finals today.

Bungert, 21, who knocked out top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 Monday, told reporters he has his plans for the match.

"I played against McKinley in the West of England Championships at Bristol the other week," Bungert said. "He beat me but I studied him carefully."

Bungert hatched a plan to beat Emerson—and it worked. When receiving service he stood a yard nearer the net than usual. "The idea was to return Emerson's service so fast that he had no time to get to the net and volley."

DOWN'S BOBBY WILSON
McKinley, of San Angelo, Tex., crushed British Davis Cup star Bobby Wilson 6-6, 6-4, 6-2 Monday.

The other semi-final today will be between Manuel Santana of Spain and Fred Stolle of Australia.

Santana, seeded No. 2, defeated German lefty Christian Kuhnke 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Stolle beat Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 9-7, 7-5, 6-4.

Billie Jean Moffitt, 19-year-old upset specialist from the United States, overcame former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil Tuesday to reach the women's singles semi-finals of the All-England Lawn Tennis Championships.

Lions Begin Sweat At Courtenay Camp

COURTENAY—B.C. Lions are up to their muscular necks in the sweat and struggle of training camp here this week, and if you looked closely enough you might find the barest suggestion of a smile on the face of head coach Dave Skeirn.

It's not that Skeirn hasn't got problems. Injuries that make question marks out of people like Tom Larscheid, Mack Burton and Jim Carpin give him plenty of those. But for the first time in their nine-year fight with futility the Lions are not a club making wholesale changes while looking for a winning system.

HAD FORMULA
They had that winning system in the late stages of last season, and most of the people who made it win are back. Training camp this year consists of selecting adequate replacements for the few missing pieces, and working to make it that much better.

It's done with sweat, and Lions will be sweating profusely between now and their inter-club game July 14 in Vancouver. Twice a day they work out, from 9:30 to 11 in the morning and four to six in the afternoon.

Two No-Hit Bids Shot By Infield Bouncers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Downing of the American League leading New York Yankees and Boston's Dave Morehead, a pair of young flame-throwers, lost no-hit bids Tuesday night on ground balls that bounced through and over the infield.

Downing allowed only one hit, a bouncer up the middle by Camilo Carreon with two out in the seventh inning, in hurling the Yankees to a 3-0 victory over the challenging Chicago White Sox that extended New York's winning streak to five games.

Morehead, at 19 two years Downing's junior, had a perfect game for 6 2/3 innings, a no-hitter through seven, and wound up with a two-hitter as the Red Sox downed Cleveland 6-1. The Indians' run came on Johnny Romano's homer in the ninth.

But the key play as far as Morehead was concerned was Fred Whitfield's grounder leading off the eighth inning. Whitfield smacked a two-hopper toward second baseman Chuck Schilling, but the ball hit a rock and bounced high over Schilling's head for the Indians' first hit.

Minnesota got homers from Bob Allison and Jim Hall and took over the runner-up spot by beating Detroit 7-4. The Twins' eighth straight victory left them three games back of the Yankees.

SEATTLE (AP)—Brian Sternberg, whose 16-foot, eight-inch vault is pending as a world's mark, was hurt in a trampoline accident Tuesday night and is paralyzed.

University of Washington Hospital doctors said it appeared Sternberg had fractured his neck. They were still studying X-rays.

Earlier, a university spokesman said the Washington vaulter had suffered an injury to his spinal cord.

Eric Hughes, Washington gymnastic coach, said Sternberg was hurt doing a double backward somersault with full twist. He said Sternberg landed on the back of his neck and shoulder.

At Duncan

Study of Sites Slated For New Courthouse

Public Works Minister William Chant will meet Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson later this week to discuss proposed locations for a long-awaited new provincial building to incorporate courthouse facilities.

Mr. Chant said yesterday that recent delay in the project has hinged around a Duncan planning committee's deliberations for a suitable site.

Three locations are under consideration.

The minister said his department has been trying to integrate its plan with the recommendations of local civic officials.

IN ESTIMATES
The building, first promised by the government some years ago, was included in this year's estimates.

Mr. Chant said it will probably be of reinforced concrete construction and will be designed with a view to future expansion.

It will be designed to provide lower-court facilities and accommodate most provincial departments represented in the Duncan area.

Holiday? Thieves At Work

CAMPBELL RIVER — While the rest of the town holidayed over the weekend, thieves rolled up their sleeves and went to work on three business premises here.

Early Sunday morning they broke into Searles Shoe Store and made off with a 300-pound safe after dragging it from the front of the shop to the back door.

Tuesday morning they broke into Green's Realty and went to work on another safe. They got $800, and left the safe a total wreck.

Next door, at Lavers Clothing, thieves smashed through a plate glass window at the front of the shop to escape when they heard police investigating at the rear.

They took some merchandise with them, and left a trail of bloodstains.

All three stores, with accurate rear entrances, offered thieves ideal working conditions.

Eager Beavers Start Lessons

Another season of Colonist free swim classes began Tuesday when joyful youngsters plunged into the pleasant waters of Elk Lake off Hamsterley Beach.

Some 900 eager boys and girls, among them many who want to perfect their swimming skills, have signed up for swim classes, which continue for eight weeks.

Expert swim teacher Margie Naysmith had two pieces of advice for swimmers last night:

● Be sure to bring some sort of bag which will hold wet clothes as well as dry. Some turned up Tuesday with paper shopping bags, which are fine for dry clothes but not for wet bathing suits.

● Children who come to the classes by special bus must return on the same bus, unless they have notes from their parents. Without a note, a child is not allowed to stay at the beach after his class.

Comox MLA Unhurt In Crash

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — Dan Campbell, Social Credit member of the legislature for Comox, stopped unhurt from a wrecked car after a crash on a curve between here and Courtenay.

Campbell lost control of his car as he entered a rain-slicked S-curve, hit an oncoming car, and crashed into a ditch at the side of the highway.

Robert Bale and his wife, of Courtenay, in the second vehicle, were not injured.

Woodrow Named Top Logger

ALBERNI — Veteran Allan Woodrow of Courtenay took the award for best all-around logger at the Alberni Valley's First Annual Loggers Sports Day Monday.

Organized by the BFO Elks as a feature of Alberni city's 50th anniversary year, the event saw some of B.C.'s top logging craftsmen perform at Sprout Lake Park.

TOP CHOPPER
Woodrow won the tree-chopping contest cutting through his 12-inch diameter tree in 58.5 seconds. Runner-up was Art Williams of Nanaimo and third, Marshall Smith of Victoria.

Ardiel Wickham, Sooke, former world's champion burler, won the event, defeating Art Williams and Harvey Livingstone of Lake Cowichan placed third. Harvey defeated his father, Gilbert, and a 13-year-old brother, Cyril.

VOLUNTEERS WIN
One of the highlights was the victory of a volunteer team in the tag-o-war. With 60-year-old Mike Robinson of Nisnig Lake as anchor, they pulled their opponents across the line in three out of five tries.

In the log chopping, Marshall Smith won with a time of one minute, 41 seconds. Runner-up was Hugh McKenzie, Victoria, world's champion axe thrower, with a time of one minute, 56 seconds. Art Williams was third.

TOPS CONTEST
Allan Woodrow won the log rolling in a time of 15.75 seconds, and Art Williams was runner-up. Allan Woodrow won the bucking followed by Danny Woodrow, Courtenay.

SAMS WIN
In the Indian water sports, arranged by Tom Gus and Allan Dick, with Jacob Cullis as master of ceremonies, the Sam brothers of this district took top honors.

Harris and William Sam won the two-man canoe race, with Walter Watts and Chuck Sam second. In the two-boy canoe race, winners were Eugene Touchie and John Watts, with Tony Fred and Kenny Sam in second place.

Harris and William Sam came in first in the upper canoe race, with Walter Watts and Chuck Sam second.

Island Protest

Placards bearing anti-nuclear slogans are lined up atop cars parked opposite entrance to Comox air station while demonstrators mill around parking lot.

Garbage Vote Planned

ALBERNI — The two rural improvement districts here, Beaver Creek and Cherry Creek, plan plebiscites on weekly garbage collection.

Voting will be July 20. If the plan is approved trustees will call a joint tender. Disposal ground will be the Alberni city dump. City council has agreed to use of the facilities for an annual fee.

A spokesman for the joint committee said trustees believe, from the number of enquiries already received from those interested in bidding on the contract, the service can be provided at a reasonable cost.

Cost would be met by a monthly charge on all households in the two districts.

'No Nuclear Arms' Comox Convoy's Cry

COURTENAY — More than 240 people in 50 cars converged on RCAF Comox Monday to protest the construction of nuclear arms dumps there.

The group, led by L. J. Gardner, B.C. Peace Council chairman, came from all parts of B.C.

A total of 18 cars crossed by ferry from Vancouver to Nanaimo and other protestors were picked up en route.

At RCAF Comox gates, the group heard Mr. Gardner appeal for a protest against Canada joining the "nuclear club."

Cars carried such signs as "no nuclear arms dump here" and "Pearson has no mandate for nuclear arms." The crowd chanted "no nuclear dumps" while Mr. Gardner was giving a live radio interview.

The protest march was orderly and no attempt was made to enter the station.

Elsewhere in the district residents enjoyed the July 1 celebrations and paid little attention to the marchers.

The cavalcade drove by a supermarket lot where the Upper Island Sports Car Club held a Gymkhana but the sports cars kept the crowd's attention.

In Lewis Park the B.C. Lions in training kept the crowd occupied as the objectors ate a picnic lunch under the trees nearby.

LEONS ARRIVE
Courtenay enjoyed a good weekend marked by heavy rain Sunday. Only activity planned was the arrival of the B.C. Lions and the public introduction in Lewis Park. It went on despite showers.

Saturday the riding club held the first half of its rodeo after the morning parade and logger sports.

Top winner in the logger sports was Allan Woodrow who was first in hand-bucking and log-chopping and second in the axe-throwing.

The Anglican church won top prize of $50 in the parade with a "feed - the - hungry" slogan.

TAKEOFF CRASH FATAL TO SEVEN

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)

A Mohawk Airliner crashed and burned on takeoff in a heavy rain and hail storm at the Rochester-Monroe County airport Tuesday and at least seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed. All the rest were reported injured.

Among the known dead were the pilot and first officer of the twin-engine Martin 404 and five passengers.

Witnesses reported the violent storm broke over the airport just as the plane began its take-off.

They said the craft hardly left the runway when it veered sharply to the left and its wing tip appeared to touch the ground. Then the plane plummeted sharply to earth, plowing into a muddy area—the site of a runway-extension and a road relocation project.

One side of the plane burst into flames upon impact, witnesses reported. Debris from the crash was strewn as far away as 100 yards.

Although lightning flashed over the airport at the time of takeoff, it was believed the plane was not hit.

One passenger, Thomas Mayer, 55, of Westport, Conn., gave this account of the crash: "The wind grabbed us the minute we left the ground. I could tell what was going to happen. So I started praying."

"We were only 100 feet off the ground," Mayer said. "Maybe only 75 feet. It happened within 20 seconds. How high can you go in 20 seconds in that type of plane?"

"Don't ask me how I got out. I saw daylight so I got the belt off as fast as I could and I headed for daylight."

Seat Lost, Life Saved

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A New York City man had buckled his seat belt aboard the ill-fated Mohawk Airlines

Flight 112 when he heard his name called on the public address system.

Thomas D. Forrest, 38,

promptly unbuckled his belt and left the airliner.

"I went inside the terminal," he told a reporter.

"Then I heard a lot of sirens and someone told me the plane had crashed."

Forrest, a reservations clerk for Eastern Airlines, was flying on an airline pass. Paying passengers receive seating priority and Forrest had to give up his place.

"I don't even know what the man looked like," he said of the person who took his seat.

Thirty Killed in Crash

WELLINGTON (AP)—A New Zealand airliner crashed in rugged hill country early today and officials feared all 30 persons aboard were killed.

The DC-3 of the New Zealand National Airways went down on 1,000-foot-high Maimai Mountain range on a flight from Auckland to Taupo, 85 miles to the northeast on New Zealand's South Island.

169 Killed

Holiday Toll Highest In Canada's History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A record-breaking 169 accidental deaths was the final solemn reckoning of Canada's three-day Dominion Day weekend celebrations.

The death toll passed the previous 1960 Dominion Day weekend record of 122 early on the third day and mounted steadily as cars passed onto highways from the return journey home and reports from lakes and rivers flooded in.

It was Canada's most grisly weekend on record, surpassing even the nation's highest five-day weekend count of 130 deaths during the 1962 Christmas period.

Altogether, 83 Canadians died on roads, 77 drowned, two died in fires and seven met unclassified deaths, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to 12 midnight local time Monday shows. The National Safety Council had predicted no more than 50 would die on roads.

TWO PROVINCES HIGHER

The fatalities in Ontario and Quebec alone easily outstripped the nation's Dominion Day weekend toll of 56 last year.

Quebec's toll more than doubled from a record 28 in 1959 to 78, including 41 drownings, 33 traffic fatalities, one accidental hanging, one fall, one suffocation and one tornado fatality.

Only province without an accidental death was Newfoundland, but 15 people died in the rest of the Atlantic provinces.

The traffic toll was six in B.C., five in Alberta, four in Manitoba and one in Saskatchewan.

The survey does not include known slayings or suicides, industrial accidents and natural deaths.

B.C. Prisoner Dies After Insecticide Use

VANCOUVER (CP)—A prisoner from the Hancy Correctional Institute, who suffered twice late in June from the effects of garden insecticide fumes, died in hospital Tuesday.

Authorities at Hancy said James Willard Boyce, 31, of 100 Mile House, used the insecticide June 24 without a mask and was ill the following day. He used it again June 28 and again became ill.

There's a Reason For the Sweetness

By TERRY HAMMOND

The unique aura of sweetness and light currently surrounding B.C.-Ottawa relations got another stay of execution yesterday when Premier Bennett continued his steadfast refusal to comment on the federal budget.

Ever since Finance Minister Walter Gordon brought down his controversial budget June 17 reporters have been trying to get the premier's evaluation of it.

Never before has he been so reticent.

From a newsman travelling with the cabinet on its swing through the Kootenays last month the premier got the budget highlights hours after they were delivered in the House of Commons.

He found them "interesting" but asked for more time to study the budget, before he said anything further.

By yesterday it was apparent he had studied the budget fully because he told newsmen he had made representations to Ottawa asking for a "second look" at the 11 per cent tax on building materials.

But he still refused to say what he thought of the document.

Observers believe his reticence may evaporate with the signing of the agreement for development of the Columbia River power project.

Members of the government have made no secret of the fact that until the knotty Columbia problem is solved Ottawa is to get kid-glove treatment.

Although Premier Bennett's views on the Liberal budget have never been expressed, it is known that he is an arch-enemy of any measure likely to impede industrial expansion.

Yesterday he wouldn't even criticize the 11 per cent tax.

"I made personal representations," was all he would say.

115 to 75

Grits Win New Test

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government survived its fourth non-confidence test of the young parliamentary session Tuesday night as a Progressive Conservative motion against the minority administration was defeated in the Commons.

Voting for the Conservative motion, which accused the government of creating confusion in the economy, were 81 Conservatives, 13 New Democratic MPs and Guy Marceau, Independent Social Credit member for Quebec-Montmorency.

Opposed with 96 Liberals, 18 Social Credit MPs and Frank Howard (NDP—New Brunswick).

Final vote was 115 to 75.

Gordon:

Revenue Must Climb

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Tuesday night it is "absolutely necessary" for the federal government to have more revenue.

Hence the sales taxes, he told the Commons shortly before a vote on a Conservative non-confidence motion based on the budget proposals.

GO ON DRIFTING

"If the people of Canada are not willing to back a government which has a program, and pay more taxes in the interim, then we will have to go on drifting and that inevitably means we will end up on the rocks."

Mr. Gordon said that had the government not imposed the sales taxes, the deficit in the current fiscal year would exceed $700,000,000. Next year it could top $1,000,000,000.

SPY DRAGNET SNARES FOUR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI agents in New York and Washington Tuesday arrested two married couples—including a Russian diplomat—on charges of conspiring with Soviet intelligence to supply the Kremlin with U.S. military secrets over the last six years.

In addition to these four, the FBI said there were two other conspirators who have now left the United States. They had worked at the United Nations but were described in the FBI complaint as "officers of the GRU, Soviet Military Intelligence."

TOOK OTHER NAMES

Seized in New York were a Russian working as a UN official and his Russian wife. Arrested in Washington was a "John Doe" who, according to the FBI, took the name of a real Catholic priest, Robert Balch, to masquerade his true identity, and his wife, who assumed the real name of a Connecticut housewife, Joy Ann Garbor.

The FBI moved immediately to arraign all four.

SEARCH APARTMENT

In Washington agents kept the couple in their modest apartment in the northwest part of the city long into the evening for apparent questioning and searching.

A government official, commenting on the magnitude of the ring, said "this is a big one."

It was the second Soviet espionage case disclosed by the United States in two days and involved all the traditional trappings of spies—secret messages left at "drop points," codes, ciphers and secret writings.

NEW YORK (AP)—Accused Russian spy Ivan Egorov, smiling broadly, told reporters Tuesday night "this is a comedy" as he strode past them on his way to a federal court appearance.

Sex, Spy Scandals

No Joke

LONDON (AP)—Harold Wilson, leader of the opposition Labour party, accused Prime Minister Macmillan Tuesday of taking a petulant attitude and trying to laugh off the sex and spy scandals that have shaken Britain. (See also Page 2.)

In a collision in the House of Commons, Macmillan snapped back that finding the spies was a security success—not a failure—and angrily told Wilson he thought his remarks offensive.

MUST LEARN DIFFERENCE

"You really must learn to distinguish between invective and insolence," the prime minister added.

The row was touched off by a dispute over the way the Conservative government handled recent security disclosures. These were topped by Monday's revelation that diplomat-turned-journalist Harold Philby was the mysterious "third man" who warned renegade diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean to flee England in 1951.

VANISHED IN JANUARY

Burgess and Maclean have been in Moscow since and Philby is believed to have slipped across the Iron Curtain since he disappeared from Beirut last January.

News that Philby, once first secretary of the British embassy in Washington and believed head of security there, has actually been a Soviet agent stunned the House of Commons. Macmillan in 1955 said there was no evidence against Philby.

Verbal sword-crossing first started when a Conservative MP asked Macmillan if he planned to appoint a minister of security.

The prime minister replied that he would have to await the result of a judicial inquiry into

Non-Aggression

K Wants Swap: Pact for Ban

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a cheering East German audience Tuesday that in exchange for a non-aggression pact with the West he would be willing to go along with the United States and Britain on ending nuclear tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water.

Khrushchev led into his offer by calling U.S. President Kennedy's speeches in Berlin and West Germany last week "a dangerous development."

TEST BAN TALKS

Khrushchev spoke in advance of talks on a nuclear test ban scheduled to start in Moscow with U.S. and British negotiators July 15.

He deliberately left underground tests out of his proposal and appeared to write off an agreement on this as impossible.

Khrushchev appeared to be making a new package offer to the West, but the Soviet leader said he had made the partial-ban proposal before.

The West contends on-site inspection is necessary to guard
